IP Topic: IP Docketing in a Pandemic – Some Changes are Here to Stay

Working remotely during the pandemic has forced us to be creative in replicating in-office tasks. Let's discuss how we handle administrative processes remotely, what is a temporary fix and what is here to stay.

Discussion on the revolutionary new procedures for allowing e-signature platforms to replace wet-ink signatures on inventor Declarations and Assignments. We will discuss the format for the actual Declaration or Assignment, a step-by-step process for obtaining the signatures of the inventors, and how to move the signature process through an e-signature workflow.

What processes have you changed while working remotely- will these changes remain in place as your team returns to the office? What work, if any, still needs to be handled in the physical office? How do you replicate simple in-office conveniences such as sticky notes? How has your role shifted during remote work?
